NOVARRO GETS JAIL SENTENCE

MARTINEZ, Feb. 4.—First defendant to be convicted in Contra Costa county of a felony charge of still possession Jose Novarro, 35, San Pablo, was sentenced today by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie to a term of six months in the county jail, a fine of $1,000 and a five year's probationary period.

It was said, however, that Novarro will escape the payment of the $1,000 fine inasmuch as the law under which he was sentenced does not provide the method of collection nor an additional penalty for non-payment. The wording of the law, providing for imprisonment and a fine of $1,000, left the court no alternative but to impose the fine assessment.

Novarro was arrested at his San Pablo home, being apprehended by Clyde Laird, chief of the county prohibition squad, while operating a small still.

PORTOLA BOY SAVING MOTHER SLAYS OFFICER

PORTOLA, Feb. 4.—Driven to fury when he witnessed violent hands being laid upon his mother, John Schlacter, 16-year-old school boy, pierced the brain of Deputy Sheriff William Stevenson with a bullet here today.

Stevenson dropped instantly. The boy had entered the lobby of the Weaver hotel here, operated by his mother, Mrs. Marie Weaver. He found her engaged in an argument with Deputy Sheriff Stevenson, a guest at the hotel.

WATCHED QUARREL
For a few moments he watched the quarrel then fearing for the safety of his mother he quietly slipped out. He went to his room and produced a revolver, then he returned.

The quarrel had passed from the verbal to the physical stage, according to authorities and here Young Schlacter told officials that he saw Stevenson draw a gun at that moment. He said he shot to kill. The boy was being held in custody here tonight. He made a detailed statement to the police concerning the incident.

INVESTIGATION STARTS
Investigation was not to determine the cause of the quarrel between the deputy sheriff and Mrs. Schlacter.

The officer, according to neighbors, had been on friendly terms with the boy. Witnesses grumbled could not disclose any reason for the quarrel.

MARIN BRIDGE MERGE DENIED

SAN RAFAEL, Feb. 4.—Plans for an $18,000,000 bridge that will span San Pablo bay from Fleming Point, Alameda county, to Bluff Point, Marin county, were disclosed here today by T. A. Tomasini, San Francisco marine engineer, who said that he represented eastern capital that was ready and willing to finance the project.

Tomasini said that he will appear before the Alameda county Board of Supervisors on Monday to outline details of the projected span, which under plans, will be six and one-half miles long, 30 feet wide and with 135 feet clearance at high tide.

The Alameda county terminal of the span at Albany will be linked by a tunnel under the Southern Pacific tracks, according to Tomasini, who said that construction time would be three years after work started.

Tomasini said that the investment would show a profit beginning in 1935 on a toll basis of 20 cents per person, 75 cents for an automobile, $1 for a stage and driver, and 5 cents per 100-wt. for freight. He said the project as planned might carry rails for an electric line but that no provision had been made for its use by steam trains.

Tomasini declined to comment on a merger of his interests with the Van Damme and Long bridge projects.

MRS. JOHNSON RETURNS

Mrs. Walter Johnson has returned to her home at 479 Richmond avenue from the Cottage hospital, where she has been confined for the past two weeks.

Johnston New Secretary Of Cal. Building And Loan Assn.

Appointment of Henry A. Johnston, as secretary and manager of the Richmond branch of the California Guarantee Building and Loan Association, was made by the local board of directors at their meeting according to an announcement made yesterday.

Johnston is to succeed Ira A. Vaughn, who recently resigned to direct his attentions to other endeavors.

Since his coming to Richmond in 1901, Johnston has engaged in the real estate business, and is well-known for his civic and other public endeavors. He has been connected with the Mechanics Bank as a member of the appraisals committee, and is well qualified to handle the financial side of his new position.

Following the meeting of the board announcement was made that the present quarters of the association would remain at Sixth street and Macdonald avenue, but that the offices would be enlarged to handle the business of the company.

The present California Guarantee Building and Loan Association is a combination of a company by the same name, established in Richmond in 1923, and the Home Guarantee Building and Loan Association of Oakland. Since the combination of the two firms there are offices in Petaluma, Hayward, Monterey, San Leandro, and Pittsburg, besides those in Berkeley and Oakland.

Combined assets of the companies are more than a million dollars. The Richmond branch of the company is an important link in the chain of offices due to the large amount of building that is going on here, according to R. C. Knight, and officials of the company.

Local directors present at the meeting including W. T. Helms, T. H. Delap, Dr. U. S. Abbott, Charles S. Renwick, George N. Rooker, A. P. Hill and H. A. Johnston, R. C. Knight, who is a vice-president of the company, also was present.

Lougheed's Bail Raised To $4,000

MARTINEZ, Feb. 4.—Victor Lougheed, bound over to the Superior court of Contra Costa county, for a new trial on charges of assaulting Miss Esther Leighton, of Oakland, was released on $4,000 bail after his attorneys asked that the bail be increased to $4,000. This was done so that the amount set by the court would correspond to the amount of the personal bond raised by his friends.

Bail raised by the friends of Lougheed amounted to $4,000, but when attorneys went to Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie to deposit the bail found that the court had only set the bail at $3,000. In order to save the trouble of having a new bond, they asked that the bail be increased to $4,000. Request was granted and Lougheed was freed.

BRIDGE FIRMS TO ASK AWARD OF FRANCHISE

MARTINEZ, Feb. 4.—Bested by two of the largest transportation companies of the bay region, the Contra Costa county board of supervisors will consider the granting of a permit to one of these companies to build a $12,000,000 toll bridge across the bay reaching from Richmond to Marin county, when the contestants present their claims to the body Tuesday.

The river concerns, Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, Inc., and the Richmond San Rafael Ferry Company, each propose a structure that would be in excess of three miles in length.

Several hearings have been held and postponements have been frequent, but the Contra Costa board has given the bidders to understand that when the hearing resumed Tuesday it will continue until all testimony has been presented.

SHIPPERS TO OBJECT
Although no definite statement has been forthcoming it has been indicated that several of the larger steamship companies will present objections to the proposed span on the ground that it would be a menace to navigation.

INDIVIDUALS PETITION
While the hearings specifically are on applications of individuals those seeking the permit for the span represent the bridge and ferry firm. Roy O. Long, president of the bridge concern, and Charles Van Damme, head of the ferry company, filed individual applications when a decision of the Supreme Court, on which a rehearing is now being awaited, confused the bridge situation through the court's construction (Continued on Page Eight)

College Widow Stars Dolores Costello At The California Fri.

Beautiful Dolores Costello has become the best loved actress of the screen through her ability to move audiences to tears. She now appears as the most vivacious and merry of flirts, and carries off the part with distinction. Miss Costello is star of "The College Widow," Warner Bros. big screen revival of George Ade's spectacularly successful play of the same name. Archie L. Mayo directed the production which includes William Collier, Jr., Anders Randolf, Douglas Gerrard, Charles Hill Mailes, Robert Ryan, Summer Getchell, Big Boy Williams, Grace Gordon and Jess Hibbs. Many famous football players are also in the cast. Miss Costello plays the part of a college president's daughter who saves her father's job and the honor of the school, by personally recruiting a football team of such terrific prowess that all comers are crushed. Dolores Costello in "College Widow" comes to the theatre next Friday.

"Figures Don't Lie" Comedy Shown Today At California

If you like good wholesome entertainment that keeps you laughing throughout the evening and then sends you home with a satisfied glow don't fail to see Edward Sutherland's Paramount picture starring Esther Ralston "Figures Don't Lie" now at the California Theatre.

It is a type of picture there should be more of. It doesn't claim to be an epic or to portray history making events. It is just a charming human story that makes you feel good all over.

Esther Ralston as a private secretary is altogether lovely and it isn't at all hard to see why Richard Arlen, who works in the same office, falls in love with her. Miss Ralston wears beautiful but simple costumes that are apt to set new styles for business girls. She is strikingly beautiful in her bathing costume in the beach scene that features one of the exciting parts of the picture.

Richard Arlen portrays a lovable type of irrepressible youth who won't take "no" for an answer. Ford Sterling never had a better laugh producing role than that of "Howdy" Jones, absent minded business man and he realizes its full possibilities. Blanche Payson is a scream as the jealous wife. Dori Hill, whose ability in leading roles has often been demonstrated, is charming and convincing as Mamie, the girl friend of Miss Ralston.

The story is fast moving, convincing and altogether charming. To miss "Figures Don't Lie" is to pass up a delightful evening's entertainment.

Other features include "Felix Hits the Deck," a cartoon comedy; Current News Events; and five big acts of West Coast Theatres vaudeville.

TAXI DANCER ON SCREEN AT THE RICHMOND

Enter The Taxi Dancer! She, for 5 cents, one-half a dime, or one-twentieth of a dollar, will trip with you the light fantastic while the "hot" Louisi-ville syncopators croon and wail the St. Louis Blues. If you want to learn the Charleston, the St. Louis, or even the Black Bottom, she can do it with you, and perhaps even instruct you. And all for the price of five cents.

Who wouldn't be willing to jump at the chance of Joan Crawford was the girl.

Joan is conceded to be one of the two or three best dancers in the film colony, and it was on this account as well as the fact that she has exhibited marked dramatic ability, that she was selected by director Harry Mil-ler and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executives for the part of Jos-lynn Poe, the Southern belle, who becomes a "taxi" in one of New York's dance "palaces," in "The Taxi Dancer," which comes to the Richmond theatre today. Op-posite Miss Crawford is Owen Moore, and the cast also includes Marc MacDermott, Claire MacDowell, William Orlamond and others. Several notable additions to the cast are expected within a few days.

Other film features include "Busy Lizzie," a comedy scream; and "Capers of a Camera," a screen novelty.

Coming Monday and Tuesday, "Millionaires" with Louise Fazenda, George and Vera Gordon in the featured roles.

Schumann—Heink To Sing Oakland Farewell Recital

Culminating fifty-one years on the world's greatest opera and concert platforms, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink is making her farewell tour during the present season and will appear in Oakland for her last local recital on Wednesday night February 15th at the Auditorium Theatre.

This gigantic tour will forever be a milestone in music history. It will take the great contralto from coast to coast through seventy-five leading cities of the United States and Canada, and will include her return to the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York to sing again the great Wagnerian roles on the stage where she made her first great American successes.

Schumann-Heink made her American debut on January 9, 1899 when she sang the role of "Or-trud" at a Metropolitan Opera Company performance of Loheng-rin in Chicago. She was re-called twenty times in this sen-sational debut. Four weeks later her eighth and only American-born child was born in a New York hotel and christened George Washington Schumann-Heink. Five weeks after this event, Schumann-Heink sang for the first time in and Co., Oakland.

Thomas A. Edison's Career Filled With Colorful Events

Thomas Alva Edison, greatest inventor of all times, in whose honor the week of February 10th, is being set aside by West Coast Theatres, Inc., as a tribute to his genius, has had a colorful career, but one which has not been without its moments of humor.

Some of these are only humorous, when viewed after many years; they were not so when they happened to the wizard many years ago. Many of them are recorded in an interesting bio-graphy of Mr. Edison by Francis Arthur Jones.

One day, some years ago, a newspaper reporter went to Ed-ison's laboratory. He was not able to see the inventor, nor was he able to get any considerable in-formation from his associates. The reporter went back to his paper, determined to write a story of some kind, and so he told of a "wonderful" invention of a new shirt which Edison had just per-fected.

This shirt, the reporter wrote, will last 365 days. It consisted of 365 layers of some fine ma-terial and all the wearer had to do to assure himself of a new shirt each day would be to strip off one of the layers. The story was published in more than 500 newspapers in the United States. Soon inquiries began to pour in, many of them accompanied by checks and money orders. These were of course, returned. De-mands for the new "shirts" came in from China, Japan, Russia and almost every other foreign coun-try.

"I laugh at it now," Edison says, "but at the time I did not think it quite so amusing."

During Edison's early tele-graph days—when he was work-ing as a telegraph operator in Cin-cinnati, Ohio—he almost was killed by a policeman's bullet. Edison's salary was small as an operator and most of his income

ALACON HEADS VAUDEVILLE AT THE CALIFORNIA

The stellar attractions on the five act bill to be submitted for the approval of patrons at the California theatre today is The Alcon Varieties a presentation of music, song and dance that is the last word in pep and syncopa-tion.

The Alcon family six in num-ber are the principals in the vaudevilles and each and every member of the family are solo-ists in a different line of endeavor. Dick at the piano is a synco-pating wizard and besides lead-ing the musical ensembles in eccentric steps is another sci-en-tillating star and the way he twists and turns during his ex-hibition is something to be won-dered at. Altogether a very sat-isfying and worthy while offering.

"He's in the Jail House Now" is the comedy song that Bert Chadwick a clever Southern en-tertainer features in his offer-ing is always a sure fire suc-cess but this likeable anti-se has also a bright line of chatter and some song and dance bits also in his routine.

Donahue and Boyne a snarling dressed couple offer a character comedy singing skit that is neatly hauled in a big time manner.

Two other artists who will no doubt have their full share of popularity are Eileen Flory a character comedienne of note and Lon Rogers the talkative juggler. Three; dinner, three to eight; sup-per, eight to twelve.

"Jerusalem!" exclaimed the astonished farmer, "when am I going to get time to see the town?"

West Coast Thomas A. Edison Week will be celebrated in every West Coast theatre from San Diego to Seattle. One of the features of the programs in all the houses will be the showing of old-time reels, during which the audiences will be carried back a score of years to the time when motion pictures were struggling to find a place in the theatrical sun.

"WHEN A MAN LOVES" SHOWN AT CALIFORNIA

In most of the arts, the finished product is the work of one individual. In motion pictures it is the work of many. Before a single set for the monumental "When a Man Loves" was de-signed, research experts delved deeply into the history and lit-erature of the times of Louis XV of France, which is the period of the story.

The costumes are faithful re-productions of originals obtained from the French State Museum. Twenty-four costumes of the pe-riod were borrowed from the French Government, Warner Bros. posting a bond of $24,000 as a guaranty of their safe return. Street scenes and interiors were designed and executed by Ben Carré who received his art education in Paris. The marvel-ous photography is accounted to by the artistry of Bryon Haskin, who also filmed "The Sea Beast" and "Don Juan."

Limitless pains were taken in the reproduction of the convict ship and scenes of deportation and battle at sea. So authentic is the atmosphere in which the characters play their parts that the theatre-goer is completely lost in the story, which means that the direction of Alan Crosland is of the highest order. The cast, besides the names of Barrymore and Costello includes many screen actors of world wide fame. The months of careful preparation are justified by the gem that is "When a Man Loves." The great production comes to the Cal-ifornia theatre tomorrow for a run of two days.

"MAN, WOMAN AND SIN" COMES TO CALIFORNIA

Interesting details of how Uncle Sam holds a job as city manager are contained in the trial scenes, prison episodes and other details of John Gilbert's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, "Man, Woman and Sin" coming Wednesday to the California the-atre. In the new story a romance of newspaper life filmed partly in Washington, the machinery by which Washington and the Dis-trict of Columbia are governed is strikingly shown.

Washington is the only Amer-ican city without a mayor, city council, and without any city pol-ities. It is governed by a federal commission, appointed by the Pres-ident, and known as the District of Col-umbia Commission, and po-lice, a set department, fire de-partment and all other details of operation of the city come under this body. Taxes are assessed, police heads appointed and or-dinances made by the commission.

These details come out in the scenes where Gilbert, as the re-porter hero of the new picture, is arrested imprisoned and tried for murder, later to be proven innocent in the story. The courts in which he appears, while pass-ing on Superior Court cases are presided over by federal judges. Even police court cases are un-der federal judges through the operation of the city that is not a city. Civil service governs all general city offices, and the chief of police is an army officer, de-signated, assigned to the task.

Gilbert's new vehicle is a strik-ing story of a newspaper report-er's adventures in Washington, directed by Monte Bell, himself a former Washington newspaper-man, who is also author of the story. The cast includes Jeanne Eagles, famous stage star of "Rain" in the leading feminine role as the society editor of the newspaper, and Marc McDermott, Hayden Stevenson, Cosmo Kyrio Bellow, Charles K. French, Gladys Brockwell and others of note.

All-Year Trans-Sierra Road Urged By Bridge President

A snow-free, low-level trans-Sierra highway connecting with the trans-continental motor routes in Nevada is the greatest need of Northern and Central California today, in the opinion of Oscar H. Klatt, president of the American Toll-Bridge company, owners and operators of the Carquinez and Antioch bridges.

"Northern and Central California have been handicapped, for years by not possessing a trans-Sierra motor highway that was snow free," declared the bridge builder. "Thousands of motor tourists from the Eastern and Middle-Western states, who turn toward California in the winter, are blocked in getting to the Sacramento and San Joaquin valley districts and the San Francisco metropolitan area by from two to four feet of snow along the present trans-Sierra and trans-continental highways leading out of Northern and Central California."

"What happens? These tourists must of necessity travel the more circuitous route into the Southern part of the State. They never see the great and compelling playgrounds of Central and Northern California. They never get acquainted with the Geysers, the great Redwood forests of Mendocino and Humboldt counties, Yosemite, Sequoia National park, the mighty forests of Mariposa—the largest trees in all the world—Lake Tahoe, Mount Lassen, California's active volcano and a thousand and one other natural wonders of this favored scenic part of California."

"Breaking the water barrier and uniting on a continuous overland motor route Canada and Mexico was the accomplishment when the Carquinez Bridge was opened to motor traffic. But analyzing the situation today, I believe that the greatest boon that could come to California today is the construction of an all-year, low-level, snow-free trans-Sierra highway which would unite the great trans-continental highways—the Victory and the Lincoln highways in Nevada—to a California highway."

"Motor tourists are a valuable asset to any state. California beckons to the motorists as no other State in the Union. It offers more in scenic grandeur, in better highways. It is truly a land of romance and adventure. The old Spanish missions, the spot where gold was found in '49 and the placer diggings of '49; the Bret Harie country in the foothills of the Sierras, the vast vanishing traces of the Russian invasions such as are found at Fort Ross; the home on the heights of Joaquin Miller, hard of the Sierras; the home and great estate of the late Jack London at Glenn Ellen in the peaceful Sonoma valley; the Silverado country of the beloved Stevenson—these are just a few of the alluring features of a trip to California."

"And where are these monuments of man and nature found? In the San Francisco Bay area."

"Motor tourists bring money in to this state. San Francisco and the East Bay metropolitan area is entitled to get its share of this tourist business. Sacramento, Stockton, Fresno is entitled to this tourist travel which will be forthcoming the moment an all-year, snow-free trans-Sierra highway is built. The people of Northern California are entitled to this highway. Governor Young comes from this favored section of California. He realizes as well as any other citizen that we must have a snow-free, low-level highway through not across the Sierras. One of the great trans-continental railways is entering California found a snow-free route and built a road without a snowshed. What a railway can do, the State highway department can do. The automobile can follow the rail lines anywhere. Let us get united action in Northern and Central California for this all-year, snow-free trans-Sierra highway."

"Many new articles at low prices are offered in the 1928 catalogue. In this book scores of nationally advertised automotive products are shown, names with which ever car owner is familiar."

Automobile Association Erects New Road Signs

Motorists on California highways may note these days the appearance of a number of new and improved types of road signs. As a further service to the motoring public, the California State Automobile Association is augmenting its yellow-diamond road-sign system with a complete system of number "guide" signs and at the same time has adopted a plan of improvement of existing markers.

The various changes and additions that are being made and their purpose were explained today by James W. Johnson, chief engineer of the automobile association in charge of the road-signing department.

All warning signs are being increased in size by a width of ten inches and symbols on such signs, indicating curves, grade crossings, etc., will be more pronounced so that the signs will be more legible and consequently more effective in warning the motorist of hazards ahead.

Both directional and warning signs in the association's system will be lowered on their standards for better visibility. The center of signs will be only three and a half feet above the road level, bringing them more easily into the range of vision of the driver. "At night, the advantage of lower signs will be especially evident. Sign-lowering is now under way."

A new type of reflector signals has been adopted to warn of dangerous curves, bridges abutments and other changes in the course ahead. This consists of nine round, three-inch reflectors imbedded in the lower portion of a large yellow-diamond sign in the form of a square. It reflects a brilliant red glow even the dimmest headlight and the range and intensity of its reflection is much greater than the former type used.

Marking of main motor routes in Northern and Central California by the Association in conformity with the United States number system of route designation is now under way.

This plan calls for shield signs, bearing the number of the route and the initials "U. S." being erected at frequent intervals as a constant guide to motorists of the route being followed. One is plainly visible beyond each intersection to "draw" the through-bound motorist past the intersection without delay or doubt. This system is an invaluable aid to motorists in strange territory.

Spanish Trail Hiway Improved

The Old Spanish Trail highway that great transcontinental highway of the extreme South of the United States, touching the Gulf of Mexico and following in the footsteps of the Conquistadores, is now carrying a tremendous amount of winter traffic, according to the National Automobile club.

The progress of this route has been amazing and during 1927 no less than $21,000,000 in new highway completions were opened to traffic. The openings celebrated include: The Iberville Bridge in Mississippi; Sugarland-Richmond, Texas, paving and bridge; Dayton, Texas, concrete pavement; Mobile Bay bridge (ten and one-half miles); Liberty county and East Texas, bridges and paving; Gila River Bridge, nine spans; Arizona; Sabine River Bridge, Texas-Louisiana line, and the complete paving of the stretch around Jacksonville and Tallahassee, Florida.

BANNER YEAR FORECAST FOR BUICK MODELS

Forecasting a year of unequalled activity in the automotive trade of this section, Peter S. Steenstrup, district representative of the Buick Motor company, yesterday completed a survey of the Pacific Coast from Seattle to San Diego. Covering practically every large buying center in Washington, Oregon and California, Steenstrup found automobile merchants in an optimistic frame of mind, and farmers, bankers and other industrial leaders jubilant over the 1928 outlook.

In a conference, Steenstrup said that at least from a Buick standpoint all indications pointed to continued and increasing progress, with even greater sales strides than in the record-breaking year just closed.

In the northern states the "spot" conditions in many sections that have been present during the past two years are being brightened and Buick dealers are exceptionally optimistic over the prospects for this year, the factory official stated.

"There is every reason for the motor trades, and for Buick in particular, to look forward to a banner year," Steenstrup told Kearns. "With increasing prosperity, motor cars are being sold in greater quantities; transportation problems are being solved more quickly; population is constantly growing, and there is every reason to believe that these conditions will continue."

"In the agricultural sections, unusually heavy crops are predicted, bank deposits and clearings, in most every city are on the increase, industry is moving at a lively pace, and the building trades' activities indicate a healthy population growth and business expansion."

"FOR GOD AND COUNTRY WE ASSOCIATE OURSELVES TOGETHER"

Almost ten years since the Armistice ended the Great War. For the American Legion they have been years of loyal service to the highest ideals of our country—not a flaunting of the battle days, but a crystallization of their spirit in accomplishments at once practical and far-reaching

The American Legion now seeks to enlarge its influence by a great stride—to have every "Buddy" of the Great War take his rightful place upon the membership roll of the Legion. Within the Legion there is for the veteran a true comradeship and a combined service of loyalty and high purpose for "God and Country."

SPORTS

HEY! TENSUN! FALL IN, NOT OUT!

By Pete Williams

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

By JAMES A. FARLEY
Chairman New York State Athletic Commission
THE ABYSMAL BUTTE ERA HAS PASSED

The Sports Editor, my good friend Ed Sullivan, has been working so hard recently that he feels that he needs vacation, and consequently, while he is enjoying himself, the writer and some of his friends have been delegated to keep his job for him until he returns.

I assume I am expected to write about the boxing situation, and I shall endeavor, as best I can, to fill up the space allotted to me on this particular day.

Boxing in the present generation, has come into its own as the most universal element in the upbringing of the youth of the world. It is giving stimulus to athletics in the public schools and courage and confidence to the students in colleges.

The type of young men who are now active in the roped arena are of a higher class than those who formerly participated in ring contests in previous years. Most of the champions are bright young men who are not only capable of being successful in the sport in which they are actively engaged, but are of the type mentally who could go out into the world and become a success in other fields of endeavor.

Boxing is unique among the sports because it is the only sport that inculcates in the spectator the unconquerable spirit. If you study the spectators at any boxing match, and particularly the championship matches, you will find that it is invariably those who appear disqualified by size, build and health for any combat who display the most enthusiasm and emotion as the contest wages in the ring. The weakling seems to visualize themselves as invincible gladiators. Thus, boxing gives to the weak a quality of mind that in a measure offsets the lack of stature in body.

I might mention that fighting for the sheer satisfaction of fighting is not done any more. Percentages and purses—not prejudices—are back of all prize ring activities. Boxing is a business that many of the youth of today elect to follow instead of taking their places in the business world, because the opportunity to earn a vast amount of money in the early days of one's life is great.

REFORMERS FIND LITTLE TO REFORM

Boxing contests are today so well regulated under legalized control that the opposition to them has become disorganized, and many who at one time were among its opponents are now listed with its staunchest supporters.

There is some criticism today regarding exorbitant demands of champions. The New York State Athletic Commission has endeavored to eliminate this by prohibiting guarantees and forcing all title-holders to defend their crowns within a reasonable period. It would be difficult to stipulate the maximum amount any boxer is to receive. In the boxing game a champion's worth is governed by his drawing power.

Boxing has been made clean, and today is the most popular sport with the public. It is doing its share to make the youth of the nation upstanding and virile. In instills courage and confidence in both the weak and the strong. The coming generation of Americans will be truly great if built upon the foundation of invincibility boxing is laying for them today.

Boxing is controlled under state law or municipal ruling in nearly every section of the United States at the present time. The New York State Athletic Commission and other bodies that govern the sport in different sections of the country, as a general proposition, have the safety and convenience of the public uppermost in their minds at all times. In New York state we have tried within the limitations of our power and ability to make boxing sound and healthy. We have tried to discourage the licensing of an excessive number of clubs in the state wherever in our judgment it would be detrimental to the best interests of the sport. At this writing approximately thirty clubs are operating in this state from Brooklyn to Buffalo.

SPORT CONTRIBUTED $300,000 IN TAXES IN YEAR

It might be interesting to know that during 1927 nearly 6,000 boxers appeared in approximately 3,000 bouts in this state.

The year just closed has probably been the most successful from a financial point of view since the passage of the Walker law. Approximately $300,000 will be realized by the state from license fees and taxes paid to the state treasury through boxing exhibitions. In this state at the present time there are 1,599 boxers, 811 seconds, 327 managers, and 55 match makers licensed. These figures are given with the thought they may be interesting to the boxing fans who read this article.

During the year 1927, 477 boxers, 22 seconds, 37 managers and 8 clubs were suspended for infractions of our different rules.

If the attendance at the important matches can be taken as a barometer of public opinion, it is evident that the sport is popular as at present conducted. The members of the New York State

:: KNOCKED OUT ::

Monsieur Jacques Curley, commander of the grapple-and-grunt industry, who lately invaded the ranks of boxing promoters, finds himself in the rather difficult position of promoting against himself next Monday night.

He will have his crew of chest and steak crushers wrestling at the 71st Regiment Armory, in N. Y. City while Piere Charles, Belgian heavyweight champion, and Jack DeMave come to blows at St. Nicholas Rink, his boxing emporium.

What Mr. Curley should do by way of experiment is to try a wrestling-boxing combination at each edifice.

Jacques wanted to break into the merry game of "exclusive copyright" now being played in our best sporting columns, because he has what he thinks is the most logical bout for Gene Tunney, and a scene mentioned previously, but scoffed at.

Curley's tip is that Gene Tunney will box Tom Heeney for the heavyweight title next summer at Wembley Field, England.

Nothing in the sports line, even necking, has been successful at Wembley unless you call soccer or cricket sports.

Soccer is a mild form of manslaughter and cricket is an excuse for outdoor tea drinking. I chided M. Jacques to the effect that Tom Gibbons and other good Americans who fought at Wembley were lucky to return with their passage money.

BECKETT-CARP. DREW GUINEAS

"True," admitted the obese one, "but a heavyweight championship fight has never been held there. Tunney is the type of boxer beloved by the English, and, with his opponent, a man born in a British possession, together with the wonderful record he has made here, would bring the fight fans out in droves."

"The Englishman is a good sport, but he won't pay high prices unless he is offered a rarity like a world's heavyweight championship. Then he will scatter his guineas as though they were sparrows."

"They paid $100 for ringside seats at the first Carpenter-Beckett fight."

"If one of their own breed has a chance in a big match you can count on a capacity house."

"I recall during one of my trips abroad when there was some sort of function which included a parade in which the royal family appeared."

"Englishmen paid from eight to ten guineas for a soap box to get a glimpse of the King, Queen and Prince of Wales as they rode through the hundreds of thousands who lined the walk or occupied the stands.

$100 FOR PEEK AT KING

"If they paid from $40 to $100 for a peek at royalty you can imagine what they would give to see Tunney and Heeney in a parade, eh, I mean match."

"Besides, all the tourists of sporting vein in Europe would crowd to what would be one of the greatest spectacles in the world."

The continent knows its boxing and boxers, the sport is one of the big amusements from Paris to Africa.

"Remember Rickard spoke of holding the next heavyweight title event there, so don't treat it as a joke."

The boxing writers won't be sore if Jacques' surmises are correct. What we need is some good "see" air.

I can almost imagine the headlines: "Tunney Visits Oxford University; Condemns Literary Course as Puerile."

"American Boxer Attends House of Parliament, Tells Premier They Need a Jimmy Walker or Mayor Thompson."

English newspaper on hand says Jimmy Slattery was robbed in bout with Tommy Loughran. That the latter was half a pound overweight, but commission jested over the matter of such a slight difference in weight and the fight took place in Buffalo.

Otherwise its report was faultless.

Same journal says Danny Frush will soon fight for featherweight title here. Danny is glad to get a four-rounder at the Olympic S. C.

Rain Postpones Baseball Games

Rain spoiled the fun of the baseball fans for today when it was announced by the managers of the various teams that there would be no games played on the wet diamonds. This means that the Merchants will not play at El Cerrito nor will the San Pablo Garage team play on their San Pablo lot.

Athletic Commission and all the officials connected with that body are doing, and will continue to do, everything they possibly can to further the interest of boxing so that the public will at all times be its warm supporters. We see that only physically fit boxers appear before the public, and that a very thorough physical examination is made six hours before each contest by conscientious physicians who are licensed by us.

COMMISSION HAS NO APOLOGIES TO OFFER

The New York State Athletic Commission has been criticized at times for its efforts, and in speaking for the commission I desire to state that we have no apology to offer for any of our acts, because we have sincerely and consistently tried at all times to do the thing which in our judgment is for the best interests of boxing.

Stringers Lose To Oakland Y.M.I.; Concord Beats Santa Fe

Oakland Y. M. I. invaded Richmond last night and surprised the fans who crowded into the gym of the Roosevelt Junior high by defeating the Richmond high-leading Stringers five by a score of 37 to 31. Another invading team walked away with the victory when Concord beat the Santa Fe tie walkers 16 to 13.

W. L. "Doc" Seawright planned the entertainment for the fans and it was well received for both games were hotly contested through out the entire eighty minutes of play.

McFarland, Oakland center was high point man with 7 points to his credit; and Dyer, Stringer forward, walked away with the high point title with 12 markers to his credit. In the Santa Fe, Concord contest Gualdoni took 7 points for the losers and Williams annexed 6 for the winners.

Y. M. I. played Stiey and Powers, forwards; McFarland, center; and Donovan Mirk, and Cruse, at the guarding position. Stringers had Al Huzefka, Dyer, Gillan, and Lee, forwards; B. Muth, center; J. Huzefka, Barbierr, Muth, and Tamm as guards.

Santa Fe lined up Villalobos and Gualdoni, forwards; Arthur, center; and Gandi and Bowen guards.

Concord, McLaughlin, Williams, and Cutler, forwards; Crean, center; and Redel, Patton, and Glindo, guards.

CHILD INJURED

May Carey, 11, of 50 Lexington avenue, El Cerrito, sustained injuries yesterday afternoon when she fell from an automobile in which she was playing. She was taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital where she received attention from Dr. L. Abbott Hedges.

George Bancroft, noted film actor, is to be starred in a Paramount picture of the Tampico oil fields.

Read It First In RECORD-HERALD

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"THE JAZZ SINGER," starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. pictureization of this novel. It is based upon the play by Samson Raphaelson.

SYNOPSIS
The New York Ghetto seethes in preparation for its important holiday, Yom Kippur. Cantor Rabinowitz, who has taught his son, Jakie, the Hebrew songs, preparing him to be a Cantor also, is horrified by the child's statement that he wants to sing in a theatre. That afternoon Cantor discovers that Jakie is already singing ragtime in a "beer garden." He whips his son and the boy runs away from home on the Eve of the Day of Atonement. Ten years elapse and the scene changes to vaudeville booking office in San Francisco. An actress is crashing the gate of the manager's sanctum.

"Is that so?" The blonde reached out a hefty arm and swept the boy to one side. "Not to me he ain't." Without stopping to knock she threw open the door to the inner sanctum and disappeared banging it behind her.

The boy stared, open-mouthed. The waiters glared hopelessly, wondering. The boy watched after the departed figure for a moment, then shrugged his shoulders and sat down. He pulled a piece of paper from the desk drawer, inserted it in the typewriter before him, and languidly hammered the keys. "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party," he wrote over and over again. Silence, save for the hand up and down with tremendous gusto.

"Buster Billings! Well, what's that are you doing here?" Jack grasped his friend's hand with an equal heartiness.
"Same thing you are, Huntin' a bookin'. How'd you get here?" he demanded.

"Long story, Buster," Jack returned. "Gee, it's great seeing you again. Let me see. Last time I saw you, you were getting ready to climb a side door Pullman out in Cheyenne."

"Yeah, that's right," Buster laughed at the memory. "Ran onto a streak of hard luck down in Texas after that, and walked the ties for a while. Then I found an ol' pal puttin' on a song an' dance act out in Albuquerque an' he put me wise to a joint, 'Shilver-vertin' Sal's Place'—ever hear of it? Jack shook his head.

"Some joint, believe you me," Buster continued. "But I got a work-out there, and then I got on for a comedy monologue in the cabaret. I got my notices all right an' a good break, but I was titchin' for 'Frisco, an' soon's I got enough jack ahead I beat it out the town, though," he added, laughing. "Where've you been?"

"Well, let's see," Jack began. "I had a couple more weeks after you left, and then I went out I got a job singing 'mammy' songs in a cafe, but it didn't go over so big. About that time I decided I'd better move on, so I hopped a train for Santa Fe. Thought maybe I might get some kind of a booking there, but—nothing stirring. I got lots of promises, but I couldn't eat them. Money ran out—well, you know that story."

Buster nodded sympathetically. "I sure do," he grinned back at me. "Well, anyhow, I started to walk. I wanted to make 'Frisco myself, but I landed in Phoenix."

"Great little town—not!" Buster interrupted.

"Oh, I got a job there, anyhow," Jack went on. "One of these night life places where there was plenty of night and not so much life. But I caught up with a little money, and then the place was shut down. I took to tramping the streets again, but it was coming summer and there wasn't a thing to be had anyplace. I lasted through, but I was on my uppers by fall. Just about there, but—nothing of a show that was going out."

"Pretty tough, kid," Buster commented.

"Well, to make a long story short, I held out the manager and he talked cold turkey," Jack explained. "And after a week's rehearsal we headed for the sticks—and when I say sticks I don't mean maybe. I think we played every town has in Arizona, Utah and Nevada. And how!"

"Don't," groaned Buster. "I know. I've been there myself, an' I hate to be remembered of them little unpleasant things. Ever strike Escalante, Nevada?"

"Did I!" Jack nodded sorrowfully. "What a town. There were three people in the audience, and not one of them cracked a smile."

these books are not even able to read what the books contain.

Feng Wan's book is designed to set forth clearly the nature and preparation of herbs, and to show how these wonderful gifts of Mother Nature are used, in accordance with the ancient Chinese Theories, to combat disease in its various forms. The book also contains approximately 200 testimonials, given chiefly by East Bay people who have been freed from suffering by drinking the Feng Wan Herbs.

BRIDGE FIRMS TO ASK AWARD OF FRANCHISE

on corporate powers of bridge companies. The presidents of the two firms have announced that if they are successful they will transfer the franchise to their companies.

During the lapse of time between hearings before the board of supervisors attempts were made by the bridge company to acquire the ferry company's Richmond-San Rafael Ferry. The negotiations failed when a price difference of $250,000 developed, it is reported.

The bridge company proposes to span the bay from Point San Pablo to McNear's point via the Brothers Island with a bridge 15,000 feet in length and providing three 1,200 foot spans, one east of the island and two spans to the west. The balance of the bridge and the approach will be of shorter spans or trestling of concrete piling.

TO COST $12,000,000

The Van Damme interests propose a bridge 19,000 feet in length, practically paralleling the present ferry lane from Richmond to Point San Quentin and utilizing the terminal properties which the ferry concern has already developed. The Long project calls for an estimated expenditure of about $12,000,000 while the Van Damme concern estimates $10,000,000 as the cost of its project.

As chief engineer for the Richmond Rafael Bridge Inc., Prof. Charles E. Derleth of the University of California, chief engineer in the building of the Antioch and Carquinez bridges will be the principal witness at the hearing here in support of Long's application, with J. E. Rodgers and A. F. Bray, attorneys for Long, conducting the hearing. Joseph Strauss, eminent bridge engineer of Chicago and consultant in the project for bridging the Golden Gate has returned to San Francisco and will come here Tuesday to urge the claims of the Van Damme interests as proponents of the most logical bridge project. Jacobs, Blackburn and May and M. R. Jones are the attorneys for Van Damme.

SHIPPING BILL TO PASS HOUSE IS PREDICTION

By EDWARD L. RODDAN
(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Unless President Coolidge vetoes the Jones Bill, a long start will be made by the present Congress towards the upbuilding of a permanent American merchant marine. It was indicated today.

The measure has already passed the Senate with flying colors and its passage by the House is anticipated within the next few weeks, although a bitter fight will be waged against it in that body. The President, however, has indicated his sharp disapproval of the Jones bill on several recent occasions and the general impression is that he will veto the measure on the plea of "getting the government out of business."

Should this happen, the veto will virtually end all hope of a satisfactory shipping bill being passed at the present session of Congress because even the staunchest supporters of the measure admit that the necessary two-thirds majority to over-ride the veto would be lacking in both House and Senate.

The chief merit of the Jones bill lies in the fact that it reaffirms the policy of this government to build up an adequate merchant marine and provides an efficient method of so doing. It enacted into law, it will stop the practice of disposing of the best government-owned lines for relatively small sale prices by providing that no ships could be sold without the unanimous consent of the shipping board members.

Also it authorizes the appropriation of $250,000,000 to be expended over a period of ten years for making necessary replacements to the fleet and keeping the vessels now in service at the maximum of their efficiency.

Because of the fact, however, that it practically insures the continuation for another decade at least of a government-owned merchant marine, it has stirred up the bitter opposition of the United States Chamber of Commerce and other large business organizations which brand it as "socialistic." The cry has been raised against the measure that the government is hindering the development of a privately-owned merchant marine by continuing in the shipping business at an annual loss running into the millions.

To this argument, supporters of the measure point out that there are no private interests in that country willing or able at this time to start the arduous task of building up a merchant service. Far from being a case of either government ownership or private ownership, they point out that it is a case of government ownership or no merchant marine at all.

For years the shipping board has been trying to dispose of some of the finest government-owned lines at ridiculously low prices only to find no purchasers willing to take the risk of continuing them in trans-oceanic service against spirited foreign competition. This has led the proponents of American shipping to arrive at the conclusion that the American flag will disappear once again from the high seas unless the government continues to operate its ships and provide for replacements.

"FOX TESTED" BY SCIENTIST BEFORE JURORS

of determining the presence or absence of "dermatoglyphs," a symptom of Dementia praecox, the defense is trying to prove Hickman is subject to.

With the clothing stripped from the upper portion of his body, Hickman was led before the jury. The four women and eight men jurors leaned forward and spectators arose in their seats while Dr. Bowers using a metal key wrote the letter "H" on Hickman's back and chest pressing the key firmly into the flesh. Hickman did not seem to mind the experiment and looked intently at the faces of the jurors while it was being made.

"EVIDENCE PRESENT"

If the symptom was present, the mark would remain for some time. If not present, it would disappear in a few minutes. After the necessary time had elapsed Hickman swung around and Dr. Bowers said that there was evidence of "diffused erythema" this indicates, the alienist later explained, that Hickman has a disorder of the nervous system controlling blood circulation.

The scientific experiment on Hickman's person and the consequential evidence offered by Dr. Bowers marked the high light in an otherwise dull session of the Hickman trial.

The session lasted for only a half day today and was adjourned to be resumed Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

A picture of the place where Lincoln lay in state at Cleveland Ohio has been received by J. E. Robbins, past commander of the Spanish War Veterans of this city, and the picture is being framed by D. L. Pemberton's shop on Tenth street.

Friends of Robbins in Cleveland sent the picture as a remembrance of the birthday of Lincoln. The picture shows a crowd of men and women standing around the catafalque on which the coffin lay, and the contrast of the crowd of that day with the crowds of today is evident as can be seen by a glance at the picture.
